DETAILED ACTION

1. This application has been examined. The amendment filed 6/17/04 has been entered.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shiitani et al (6040836) and Kask et al (6542937).

4. Regarding claim 1, Shiitani et al show the CAD/CAM software control method for generating a two dimensional drawing from a three dimensional computer defined model of an object (Figures 13, 14, 16, column 2 lines 35-45, column 3 lines 7-15, column 5 lines 12-25), generating a descriptive information associated with a component of the two dimensional drawing based on the model (column 3 lines 5-20, column 5 lines 15-20 and 25-40, column 7 lines 15-35), adding the drawing item to the view responsive to user activation (column 5 lines 15-37), forming a user interface for controlling addition of descriptive information to the two dimensional drawing (column 5 lines 10-15, column 6 lines 10-16), adding the descriptive information to the two dimensional drawing responsive to interactive user input data entered at the user interface to select a first subset of the automatically generated descriptive information that is to be added to the two dimensional drawing (column 5 lines 33-50, Figure 5, column 7 lines 11-34, column 8 lines 45-58). The descriptive information added to the two dimensional drawing is configured for display in the two dimensional drawing (column 7 lines 20-30). Shiitani et al do not specifically show that the model is of a real world object, but do mention representing three dimensional objects. Furthermore, Kask et al show representing a three dimensional object by modeling a real world object (column 8 lines 55-65). It would have been obvious to a person with ordinary skill in the art to have the system of Shiitani et al model a real world object, because it would be a convenient way to represent three dimensional objects.

5. Regarding claim 2, Shiitani et al show the descriptive information includes a constraint (column 7 lines 45-50).

6. Regarding claims 3, the descriptive information is added after an expiration time of a predetermined time period and without an intervening user action (Shiitani et al column 8 lines 5-14 and 50-60).

7. Regarding claim 4, the intervening action is a pause button (Shiitani et al column 8 lines 35-50).

8. Regarding claim 5, the information is modified (Shiitani et al 20-35).
9. Regarding claim 6, user input data indicating a subset is not to be added is tracked so that a second subset of information will not appear in the subsequent views (Shiitani et al column 9 lines 5-20).
10. Regarding claim 7, the descriptive information is stopped and an additional drawing is formed (Shiitani et al column 10 lines 13-29).
11. Regarding claim 8, a modification is reproduced in later formed two dimensional drawing (Shiitani et al column 10 lines 30-46).
12. Regarding claim 9, the descriptive information may be generated and added automatically without generating an interface or with user intervention (Shiitani et al column 5 lines 55-65).
13. Regarding claims 10, the semi-automatic mode is a timeout period in which the user may activate a device causing descriptive information generating process to be paused (Shiitani et al column 10 lines 10-33).

Art Unit: 2174

14. Regarding claims 11-12, Shiitani et al show modifying the descriptive information while the generation process is paused (column 10 lines 5-35) and generating additional descriptive information automatically following the modification (column 19 lines 20-40).

15. Regarding claims 13-14, Shiitani et al show filtering descriptive information (column 9 lines 5-17) and particular drawings from being formed (column 10 lines 25-39, column 6 lines 1-9 accordingly).

16. Claims 15-17 show the same features as claims 1-3 respectively and are rejected for the same reasons.

17. Claim 18 shows the same features as claim 1 and is rejected for the same reasons.

18. Claims 19-22 each show the same features included in claim 10 and are rejected for the same reasons.

19. Claim 23 shows the same features as claim 11 and is rejected for the same reasons.

20. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 2174

21. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

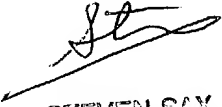

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
